

Our Open Mic Method

After 4 years of weekly open mic night we have tweaked our system so that it flows well for musicians, customers, staff and the moderator. This is how it works!

We Provide the PA

We will provide you with well-kept standard equipment.

Please be careful and respectful of the equipment so musicians can continue to use it week after week.

We will set up two microphones and two quarter inch plugs. If you need more equipment than this, please talk to the moderator before open mic night so it can be set up ahead of time, instead of in the brief time between musicians.

We Provide a Moderator

This person will let you know when to get ready, answer questions, help you get chords and mics set up, and do a brief sound check.

We Provide Licensing to Ascap, Sesac, and BMI

We have licensed our venue with these companies so that you can play covers at Cool Beanz. These licenses cost us an arm and a leg- but is worth it every time someone plays a great rendition of Halleluiah or a rocking version of Johnny Cash- so belt out the covers as much as you would like- we have you covered!

Sign Up on the Paper Next to the Register

We reserve the 4th spot for musicians that are NEW to Cool Beanz Open Mic. So if you are new, sign up in spot 4! If not sign up in any other spot!

You Can Play 3 Songs

If you haven't started your third song within 10 minutes (maybe you picked a very long song, or wanted to tell a long story between songs) you will then be limited to two songs. This helps us get to every musician that wants to play in a timely manner.

Music=Yes! Spoken Word, Comedy, or Poetry=Nope!

We have tried these mediums at Open Mic and they didn't work in this venue. Music allows for customers to chat, our baristas to take orders, and it doesn't disrupt the musicians if a blender makes a frozen drink- however with spoken word it requires the room to be quiet and really listen. Open Mic is a music filled noisy party!

Please No Swearing

Cool Beanz is a family friendly environment. Please keep your words and lyrics appropriate for our venue.

Have Fun and Smile!
